SAN DIEGO — Four of eight wounded, ill and injured service members assigned to Naval Medical Center San Diego (NMCSD)’s Army Warrior Transition Unit (WTU), Navy Medical Hold and Marine Wounded Warrior Battalion-West detachment (WWBn-W) won a combined seven medals at the 2nd annual Warrior Games held at the Olympic Training Center and Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo. May 21.

Pfc. Joshua Bullis, WTU Soldier, won the bronze medal in air rifle shooting, WWBn-W Marines Staff Sgt. Jedidiah Vermillion and Lance Cpl. Jese Shag took the team gold medal for seated volleyball. Vermillion also won the bronze for compound archery and Shag also won the silver in wheelchair basketball. NMCSD’s Medical Hold Unit Aviation Ordnanceman 2nd Class Selemani Johnson took the silver in the 50 meter free style swim and the 100 meter free style swim.

“I felt it was a bittersweet victory,” said Vermillion. “It was sweet because I brought home the bronze to the Marine Corps and had enough points to qualify for the Commander’s Cup. At the same time it was bitter because I felt that I had let my coach down for all that time he put into training me for gold.”

Before Vermillion and Shag could go to the Warrior Games they had to compete against 250 other eligible Marines for one of the 50 spots allotted to the Marines Corps team.

“I felt honored and privileged to represent NMCSD and at first it was about the competition and to get to the game,” said Vermillion. “Then you realize it’s not about you, it’s about the Marines still in the fight, who gave the ultimate sacrifice and the Marines who are still recovering.”

Johnson was one of five Sailors who competed from the San Diego area, a first time competitor and a first time silver medalist.

“I could have had the gold medal if I had more time for training,” said Johnson. “There’s always time for next year.”

Balboa Warrior Athlete Program (BWAP) is a therapeutic program designed to rehabilitate wounded, ill or injured service members to improve their mobility and independence.

Before Johnson sustained a spinal cord injury from a motorcycle accident last year he was very active running marathons. His only goal was to finish the race.

“It [Warrior Games] motivated me in a way I never thought possible,” said Johnson. “It wasn’t that important to win a medal, but to win in your heart and have a goal to meet and meet it. It sort of rejuvenates your body and soul.”
As part of the pre-game ceremonies into a civilian vocation. More than 100 civilians were sworn into the U.S. Army wounded, ill and injured from time of injury until transition back to service or into a civilian vocation. More than 100 civilians were sworn into the U.S. Army.

Dialysis offered at hospital

By Steve Pivnick
81st Medical Group Public Affairs

 KEESLER AIR FORCE BASE, Miss.

The 81st Medical Group Hospital again offers hemodialysis to patients requiring the care.

The treatment has been available since the 81st Medical Operations Squadron dialysis unit reopened in November 2009 and increased service in March 2010.

Hemodialysis removes waste products such as creatinine and urea as well as free water from the blood when the kidneys are in renal failure.

The staff of three dialysis nurses and a specialized medical technician currently cares for Department of Defense beneficiaries only in the mornings on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The eight dialysis machines, located in three treatment rooms, allow them to care for up to 12 patients a week. They presently see four. However, they hope to increase the number of patients in the near future and establish a second “shift” as more eligible beneficiaries learn of the service.

First Lt. Nicole Ward, one of the nurses, observed, “Patients undergo dialysis for 3½ to four hours three times a week. We provide very individualized attention; each patient has their own nurse. We are less crowded than many dialysis units, allowing us to offer more personal care. We also support the hospital’s graduate medical education program as internal medicine residents see patients here (during one-month rotations).”

In addition to the staff and residents, Lieutenant Ward said a hospital nutritionist sees patients frequently -- many dialysis patients have diet restrictions -- and a social worker stops by at least monthly.

Retired Sailor Virgil Tummons has the distinction of being the unit’s first patient.

Second Lt. Renee Shaw, another staff member, commented, “Mr. Tummons was our inaugural and only patient for a few months. As word spread, a couple more people came to us. We get to know them very well since we see them so frequently.”

Mr. Tummons, who retired in 1969, undergoes his 200th dialysis treatment in June.

He stated, “This is one terrific staff they have here. They treat me very well.”

He’s a former resident of the Armed Forces Retirement Home but had left there before Hurricane Katrina (August 2005). Two other dialysis patients currently reside at the AFHR.

Maj. (Dr.) Wayne Latack, 81st MDOS and chief of nephrology, has been at Keesler almost four years, much of the time spent restoring the unit.

“Our goal is to renovate the old ICU (after the intensive care unit relocates to the new inpatient tower later this year), move over there and expand our capabilities,” he said.

“Long-term, we’d like to have a 20-patient chronic dialysis unit. We’ll welcome a second nephrologist in July and this will allow us to easily accommodate up to 12 chronic patients.

He added, “We currently train our staff ‘in house’ and also send them to Travis (Air Force Base, Calif.) Almost half the training is done here and the rest at Travis, which has a 50-patient unit. This gives our staff the opportunity to see and work in a very robust unit.”

Dr. Latack noted that Keesler and Travis are among only three Air Force medical treatment facilities (not including the one formerly located at Wilford Hall Medical Center in San Antonio) to offer chronic dialysis care. The Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, hospital is the third.

Eunice Kennedy Shriver

NICHD
National Institute of Child Health & Human Development

The Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development,
The National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD
Program Director, National Children’s Study - Job Announcement #NIH-NICHD-DH-11-490455

The National Children’s Study is an unprecedented complex high profile Congressionally mandated longitudinal observational study to determine the effects of environmental exposure, as broadly defined, and genetics on the growth, development and health of a national cohort of 100,000 children from before birth through age 21 years. The position of Program Director offers a unique and exciting opportunity for a leader to execute and manage daily operations in support of the National Children’s Study strategic vision and mission. More than one position may be available. The Program Director works with a team of federal employees and contractors, collaboratively across the NIH, throughout the federal government and with other key stakeholders and organizations to coordinate and direct the protocol implementation to achieve the objectives of the Study. The Program Director is responsible for managing people and financial resources with integrity and fairness, utilizing state of the art tools and processes with frequent refresh cycles to maintain high quality cost effective research and coordinate and harmonize the methods and process of the Study with other international cohort studies. The Program Director is a key member of the senior leadership team for a system of integrated activities in an active learning community.

Applicants must possess a Ph.D., M.D., or comparable doctorate degree in the health sciences field plus senior-level scientific experience and knowledge of research program operations in one or more scientific areas related to clinical research. Candidates should have demonstrated expertise in study implementation, organizational management and a proven record of achieving goals and deliverables. They should have demonstrated leadership and ability to engage others to execute complex projects; optimize organizational performance, setting and communicating clearly defined expectations, promoting accountability for results and resolving operational problems and issues. Candidates should have demonstrated management acumen, including identification and management of financial and human resource needs; proven ability to make complex and strategic decisions to optimize resource usage, mitigate risks, and achieving desired results; and, the ability to build, mentor, motivate, and maintain a culturally diverse staff.

Salary/Benefits: The Program Director will be appointed GS-15 level plus a Physician’s Compatibility Allowance if qualified. Full Federal benefits will be provided including leave, health and life insurance, long-term care insurance, retirement, and savings plan (401k equivalent).

In addition, applicants must also submit a supplemental narrative statement that addresses the qualifications requirements (not to exceed a total of two pages), and provide the names, titles, and telephone numbers of 4-5 references. Information on the National Children’s Study including a Concept of Operations is located at its website (http://www.nationalchildrensstudy.gov). The NIH encourages the application and nomination of qualified women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities.

Standards of Conduct/Financial Disclosure: The National Institutes of Health inspires public confidence in our science by maintaining high ethical principles. NIH employees are subject to Federal government-wide regulations and statutes as well as agency-specific regulations described at the NIH Ethics website. We encourage you to review this information. The position requires the incumbent to complete a public financial disclosure report prior to the effective date of the appointment. Selection for this position will be based solely on merit, with no discrimination for non-merit reasons such as race, color, religion, gender, sexual orientation, national origin, political affiliation, marital status, disability, age, or membership or non-membership in an employee organization.

Reasonable Accommodation: NIH provides reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities. If you require reasonable accommodation during any part of the application and hiring process, please notify us. The decision on granting reasonable accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.

Open Period: Monday, June 20, 2011 to Wednesday, July 13, 2011

Brockton Primary Care Team Leader/Physician:

The VA Boston Healthcare System is recruiting for a full-time primary care physician leader for the Brockton Primary Care Clinic. This is a position within the Primary and Ambulatory Care Service Line in a large Department of Medicine. The Brockton practice is our largest primary care practice with over 8600 patients, with onsite access to multiple specialties and radiology, laboratory services and Urgent Care. The Team Leader is responsible for ensuring that excellent, high quality care is provided to our Veteran population. The individual would work as a member of the management team to provide oversight of practice management, operational issues and clinical performance. The VA utilizes a national electronic medical record and is known for delivering high quality, evidence based care within a culture of continuous improvement. The VA is in the midst of redesigning primary care towards a more patient centered, healthcare team approach with emphasis on improving health care outcomes through developing better systems for care management and coordination.

The VA Boston Healthcare System offers teaching opportunities both with medical students and medical residents in the inpatient and outpatient arenas. The physician should be board certified in Internal Medicine. As a member of the VA Boston Healthcare System and Department of Medicine, a faculty appointment at an appropriate rank is expected.

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae via e-mail: BostonPrimaryCareJobs@va.gov. For further information regarding the position, please contact Jacqueline Spencer, M.D. at 857-364-5544. We are an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply for these positions.
